Support sensible Defensible Space “Zone 0” regulations for our properties in High Fire Severity Zones - not a dangerous one-size-fits-all mandate from the State Board of Forestry and Fire Protection (BOF). Our urban forest, street trees, and landscaping are rarely the problem with urban conflagrations and this needs to be recognized. Loss of our urban forest will result in more heat, erosion, and destruction of habitat for birds and other wildlife. Input from our local elected officials, fire departments, and environmental experts is crucial to put this state regulatory process back on the right track. Tell your elected officials:
Until it’s done right - NO on Zone 0

Comments to the BOF on Zone 0 should be sent to :
